

Infant & Toddler Newsletter

July 2019

Welcome to the month of July. Summer is finally here!

Remember that now that the weather is nice out, the toddlers will be going outside daily. When it gets warm enough, our Water Days will be Monday & Tuesday.

The toddlers have been very busy reviewing their manners, saying “please” and “thank you,” using gentle hands with our friends and teachers, and using our inside voices. We have also been talking about things we do at the beach, what we wear to the beach, and things we bring to the beach. In hopes of warmer weather, we will revisit our beach theme later on, so that we can actually do some of the activities on our lesson plan that we didn’t get to yet, such as playing in the water table outside.

Our next theme is Red, White & Blue. We will do some fun art projects related to the upcoming holiday and practice our colors. Let’s have a great month!
